My favorite calendar. I hope and pray they don't ever discontinue this style. I love the 17 month. I always buy it in late July and transfer my old calendar to the new. Nice large rectangle boxes to write on. No annoying lines or trying to force you into "each person in your family has a line" on each day. I just like the big, open rectangles to write in! Thank you! I don't really care so much about the pattern/color, just the lay out. I have been buying this brand and style for 4 years now.

It's okay, it's a typical calendar, but I was hoping it would be like the other 'do it all' calendars. It's does have a lot of room in the days to write in the squares, more than most typical calendars because it uses the top half of the page, not just filling it with pictures. Most of the stickers are female/ family based, but do have all the major religious holidays, not just Christian, and includes most of the English speaking countries' holidays listed also (with some east asia-based holidays included).

I was tempted to buy the FlyLady calendar - as is anyone who receives her 98 e-mails each day. But I couldn't see shelling out $18.95 for something like a calendar. So I found this one. The squares are huge, the stickers are good quality, the magnet works, and there's plenty of room for writing. I love this calendar, plus it's really cute.

I love these calendars. I buy these every year and the pocket comes in handy to hold appointment cards/reminders, invites, outgoing mail, pens, etc. The stickers are my children's favorite since they apply the stickers on the calendar for upcoming events like haircuts, practices/games, no school, pictures, dentist, doc appt, vacation, birthday, etc.

I have been buying this Orange Circle Studio "Do It All" Calendar for three years now because it has just enough space to put notes on the days and even has stickers to quickly apply for Birthdays, mark dates for Doctor/Dental appointments, mark Meeting dates, and many more. All of these stickers and notes are right there in the pocket attached to the attractive calendar so will not be lost in a catch-all drawer. I liked it so much I gave one to each of my adult daughters for Christmas. These are great for the ever-busy, on-the-go families.

The best parts of this calendar are the large blocks of space available on each day and the fact that you can write on it in any medium, from pencil to Sharpie. It all works. It doesn't smear. A Sharpie note might bleed through the page a little, but regular pens and gel pens are fine. I've ordered this calendar regularly for the past three years, and I can't imagine stopping as long as they keep the quality of the product the same.

I love that the squares are big enough to write multiple appointments in. The stickers are cute and fun. Using them for every occasion makes me realize how many fun things I've done recently that I'd forgotten about. Girls night's out, movie dates, barbecues, etc. It gives me a pleasant little memory every time I see one of them and remember the fun time I had. The pocket on the bottom seems to come out a little easy but I also have a two year old who likes to get at the pens I keep in there so I'm not going to dock them points because of what could very well be the fault of my aggressive toddler. It seems a little pricy to me, but I liked it enough to buy one last year and this year from the same company. One thing I was worried about was the magnet. I was afraid that it would just a little too weak and easily slide a bit when the fridge was opened or closed. I'm happy to report that that hasn't been a problem at all. The way it's made the magnet is attached to plastic pieces that work like a clipboard. So when I was through with last year's calendar I took off the magnet part and now have a fridge magnet that works as a clipboard for anything else I might want to stick up there.

I love this calendar for home. It has really big squares for writing lots of things in and it is for 17 months, so I can put some appointments for next year on there. I also like the pocket at the bottom for things like appointment cards, tickets, pens, etc.
