Customer Reviews

I am a grown woman who loves to color. I have anxiety and panic attacks, which are both sometimes caused by stress. Coloring relieves my stress and decreases my anxiety more than I would ever thought was possible. My acupuncturist and I were talking one day, and he told me that coloring is an effective way to reduce stress, and he's the person who introduced me to adult coloring books. Since I love the beach and the ocean, I ordered this adult coloring book to add to my collection. I like it, but I do own others that I like better. I'm not sure of it's exact dimensions, but it's smaller than my other coloring books, and I prefer the regular sized coloring books. It has 30 pages, and the pages don't have images to color on the backs, so there's no bleeding through the pages. I do like that fact, and I also like the pictures of mermaids, turtles, fish, shells, etc..., but in my opinion, some of the pictures have such small details that they're almost impossible to color, even with freshly sharpened color pencils. On the flip side, other pictures in the same book are really large and very simple, like something you would find in a young children's coloring book. The pictures are centered, and most of them are pictures of a single item, such as one small, intricate mermaid, or one very large fish. I like pictures of scenes, landscapes, or pictures with pretty borders better than those of one single item. I don't really dislike this coloring book, but it's definitely not my favorite, either.

Beautiful book however I was under the impression the whole book was mermaid pictures. Out of 30 pages only 10 are.

Good artwork and FUN
