This is my second "Whimsical" coloring book by Molly Harrison. In this series, she highlights little girls with cute round faces and non-existent noses. The girls have an adorable look with their little eyes, broad faces, and fly-away hair. I did notice that a couple of the designs are duplicates of those I have in my other book. I'm not sure about this first book in this series as I don't own it. In this particular book, the designs are related to Halloween. There are witches, fairies, mummies, pumpkins, owls, kittens, and so much more. I always have a lot of fun coloring these little dolls and hope that someday Ms. Harrison will do a grayscale coloring book featuring them. This is what I experienced while coloring in this book and using my coloring medium to test the paper (which is typical of CreateSpace who is the publisher of this book): 32 Cute Halloween Designs featuring little girls. Printed on one side of the page. Paper is thin, white, slightly rough, and non-perforated. Glue

Binding Designs do not merge into the binding area and can easily be cut out if you choose to do so. Designs have a double framing line around the outside to give the project a more finished appearance and to save time and ink by not having to color the entire background. Book opens fairly flat for coloring purposes. Alcohol-based markers bleed through this paper. Water-based markers bleed through to a lesser degree with spotting more than a full bleed through. Gel pens and India ink pens leave colorful shadows on the back of the page. India ink can bleed through if I use multiple coats or blending of two colors. Colored pencils work really well with this paper.
