â–‘â–‘â–‘â–‘â–‘FUN BOOKâ–‘â–‘â–‘â–‘â–‘â– The designs in this book are not super intricate. They can be done in about 2 hours. But when I have the urge to color the word Thunderc I am looking for a quick calming experience, not a 3 night project.â– The swear word selection is great. There are a few words you might find on prime time TV, but most are only acceptable on HBO. A few are Game of Thrones worthy.â– Each page is printed only on one side. (That's a good thing if you're new to these kind of coloring books. It keeps any ink bleeding from ruining a design on the back of the page.)â– You do get bleed through onto the back of the page with felt tip markers. Only a few dots of color soaked through and got onto my barrier page, but you'll want to keep a sheet of paper between the page you're coloring and the one behind it. Doing so should completely protect the mage on the next page.â– The paper is not particularly absorbent. So your ink doesn't leak outside the lines. It stays where you color. (Think of a Sharpie on a napkin. That doesn't happen here)â– The paper is abrasive enough that pencils also work well.â– I did find that the lines on the drawing are pixelated in places. It's as if they were designed on a computer and were slightly enlarged for printing. It's not super significant, and the issue disappears entirely once the image is colored. But the lines are not crisp in places.â– The photos I included show one design colored with all felt tipped ink. (I picked this page to color first and photograph because it's once of the few pages in the book that I can put a photo of without removing the photo)You can see the back of the page to see how much bleed through you get.
