Customer Reviews

Â Fairyworld is a coloring book that gives us a glimpse into the secret world of not just fairies, but gnomes, elves, and trolls too! There are fairies and other creatures in flower beds, riding critters, snuggled in nests, flying on owls, sitting on lily pads, peeping out of windows and doorways, waving wands, and more! Fairyworld is sized 8.5 x 11 inches and contains 44 single-sided (!!) designs on perforated (!!) paper. The paper is satisfactory Â¢Â ª it is a bit heavier than copier/printer paper but the paper is a bit transparent as you can easily see the inky drawing lines from the next coloring page. There are two pages in the back specifically designed for the purpose of testing coloring mediums and palettes Â¢Â ª this is a great feature and I wish more coloring books would include pages like this! ItÂ¢Â ªs true that the Forever Inspired Coloring Book series is aimed toward kids, but the designs are intricate enough that adults will enjoy coloring them too! The majority of the designs span the entire page and all of the designs have many things to color. The items to color vary in size but even for the smaller components, you will be able to color them with a dull pencil point. The inky drawing lines are dark and of a medium thickness. All of the designs have a portrait orientation. This review is excerpted from my blog isniffbooks.wordpress.com where I review books, coloring books, and products. Disclosure: I received a complimentary review copy from the publisher in exchange for a review. The opinions are my own.
